My Life's Inspiration

My big brothers name is Ty. He has always cared for the family .Ty is a black belt in karate. I feel that he keeps me safe. Ty is 14 years old. But he is not like most teenagers he is very kind and respectful. Ty is the most trustworthy person I now. He has always been there for me when I needed him. He is also very modest and considerate. I have never here'd him brag once.

Ty is always thinking of others. One day a kid was getting bullied at the bus stop after school. So Ty rode his bike up there to stop the bullying and make shire that the kid was all write. So now if I see someone that is getting bullied I will not just stand buy and watch I will help that person. Ty is my role model and always will be.

Ty knows exactly what he wants to be when he grows up. He has inspired me to follow my dreams. Every day he finds a new way to follow his dream. He shows me that if you want something or want to go somewhere you have to work for it won't just fall in your hands.

So when I grow up I'm going to be just like him. I'm going to be caring, modest, truthful, thoughtful, and I will have lots of integrity. I will persuade my dreams every day I will do my best to help others just like Ty. Ty did no teach me any of these things. He simply just did them out of the kindness of his hart. He is my role model just because of all the things he does not just for me but for others.

One time Ty went to an air show to see the blue angles. After they landed you were aloud to get a autograph from them. When Ty finally got to the front of long line a lady had pushed her way in front of him and did not even say excuse me. He did not get mad. He did not want to be rude and tell the lady that she cut in front of him. But then when it was his turn he did not get to get an autograph from the blue angles. But he did get to do see the blue angles up close. This incident taught me that if you have a good audited even if someone is being rude good things will happen. I would say that he is all most the most important person in my life. Only because of the things he did.
